UV Conference Sessions

- Solar UV measurements and modelling
  - Instrumental developments
  - Case studies (factors affecting UV radiation)
  - Modelling of surface UV radiation
  - Satellite retrieved surface UV radiation
  - UV reconstruction techniques
- UV radiation climatology and trends
- Climate change and UV radiation
- UV radiation effects on humans and the biosphere

9 Invited speakers

- Claus Fröhlich, PMOD/WRC, “A personal perspective on 100 years of UV Research at PMOD”
- Germar Bernhard, Biospherical Instruments Inc., “Instrumental and Methodological developments in UV research”
- Alkiviadis Bais, Univ. of Thessaloniki, “Case studies (factors affecting UV radiation)”
- Bernhard Mayer, Deutsches Zentrum für Luft und Raumfahrt (DLR), “Modelling of surface UV radiation”
- Pawan K. Bhartia, NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, “Satellite retrieved surface UV radiation”
- Anders Lindfors, Finnish Meteorological Institute, “UV reconstruction techniques”
- Richard McKenzie, National Institute of Water and Atmospheric Research (NIWA), “UV radiation climatology and trends”
- Joanna Haigh, Imperial College London, “Climate change and UV radiation”
- Ann R. Webb, University of Manchester, “UV radiation effects on humans (and the biosphere)”

Special Issue ACP

A special issue entitled "One century of solar ultraviolet research" has been approved by the Atmospheric Chemistry and Physics Journal (ACP), <http://www.copernicus.org/EGU/acp/acp.html>.

Starting 18 September 2007, authors can submit their contributions by using the online registration form on the ACP website:
http://www.copernicus.org/EGU/acp/ms\_registration.html.

The dead-line for submission is 30 November 2007.

Note that during the registration process it is important that the correct special issue is chosen. The publication fee of about 25 Euro per page is not covered by the conference registration fee and has to be paid by the authors of the manuscript.
